Introduction

This publication provides a comprehensive report on the Visual Arts examination in the 2023 Hong Kong Diploma of Secondary Education Examination. It covers various aspects of the examination, including the objectives, contents and format of the examination, the question papers, the marking schemes, and the chief examiners' comments on candidates' performance in the live examination. Some statistics are also included.

Through this publication, we hope to provide useful information and feedback to assist teachers in their teaching of the subject and students in their learning. Similar publications are also available for other subjects in the 2023 HKDSE. Besides, a series of publications and resource materials related to the HKDSE are also available for reference to schools, candidates and the public. These include information related to examination administration, assessment requirements, examination-related statistics and feedback provided to schools and other stakeholders. For details, please visit the Authority's website (http://www.hkeaa.edu.hk/en/HKDSE/info_corner/hkdse_publications_materials/).

We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to all the examination personnel who were involved in the development of question papers and the assessment of candidates' performance. Without their contributions, it would not have been possible for us to conduct the examination smoothly.

The Examination

Objectives

The objectives of the public examination include the assessment of candidates' ability to:

- describe, analyse, interpret and evaluate artwork in writing;
- select and manipulate visual language, media, materials, tools and techniques appropriate for the creative expression and communication of a topic/theme or for solving a particular problem.

The objectives of SBA include the assessment of candidates' ability to:

- generate ideas through observation, experience, imagination, technology and other skills;
- develop themes of personal feelings or ideas, or social-related issues or ideas for problem solving through identifying, selecting and organizing primary and secondary resources;
- analyse, interpret and make critical judgment of artwork/art phenomena showing understanding of form, purpose, meaning and context in writing;
- transform and integrate experiences, knowledge and perspectives constructed from art appreciation and criticism, and other areas into art making practice;
- explore, select and manipulate appropriate visual language, media, materials, tools, skills, techniques and imagery for creative expression and communication of a theme or for the solving of a particular problem;
- continuously reflect on, respond to and evaluate their own and others' practice and work, and consequently modify their own work.

Synopsis of curriculum contents

For details, please refer to the Visual Arts Curriculum and Assessment Guide (Secondary 4 to 6) jointly prepared by the Curriculum Development Council and the Hong Kong Examinations and Assessment Authority.

PART ONE

Paper 1: Visual Presentation of a Theme

Part A: Art Appreciation and Criticism (45 minutes)

Write a critical appreciation of the reproductions of artwork provided.

Part B: Visual Arts Making (3 hours and 15 minutes)

Create a piece of artwork to present a theme. Candidates may submit a creative brief which may include notes, sketches or layouts produced during the examination to support their artwork, if necessary. The practical work and the creative brief will be assessed as a whole and no separate marks will be awarded to the creative brief.

Paper 2: Design

Part A: Design Appreciation and Criticism (45 minutes)

Write a critical appreciation of the reproductions of design provided.

Part B: Design (3 hours and 15 minutes)

Solve design problem(s) and present a design work. Candidates may submit a design brief which may include notes, sketches or layouts produced during the examination to support their design work, if necessary. The practical work and the design brief will be assessed as a whole and no separate marks will be awarded to the design brief.

PART TWO

SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT (SBA)

Candidates are required to submit ONE portfolio which should consist of:

(a) Research Workbook (presentations on art appreciation and criticism in context in relation to art making/critical studies and research processes) showing:

- evidence (e.g. sketches, photographs, notes) of how ideas are generated and recorded through observation, experience, imagination, technology and other skills;
- exploration and development of a theme/topic for art appreciation and criticism, and art making;
- presentations on art appreciation and criticism in context in relation to art making/critical studies, with evidence of research into the socio-cultural and historical contexts of more than one culture; and criticism of artwork/art phenomena /visual cultures from different perspectives and with different aesthetic values to the candidates' own;
- how artists' work has influenced their own art making/critical studies;
- exploration of and experimentation with media, materials, skills and techniques for the presentation of the selected theme;
- reflection on, evaluation of and refining of their own work;

and

(b) Artwork/Critical studies (TWO pieces of work in the portfolio) for the presentation of the selected theme(s):

- The TWO pieces of work can be artwork, or one of them can be critical studies;
- Any media, materials, skills and techniques can be used for the production of the artwork.

Mode of assessment

The public assessment will consist of a public examination component and a school-based assessment component as outlined in the following table:

Component		Weighting	Duration
Public Examination	Choose either Paper 1 or Paper 2: Paper 1- Visual presentation of a theme Paper 2- Design Each paper is divided into two parts: Part A 10% Part B 40%	50%	4 hours
School-based Assessment (SBA)	Submit ONE portfolio which should consist of: (a) Research workbook (20%) (b) Artwork/Critical studies (30%)	50%

VISUAL ARTS PAPER 1

Visual Presentation of a Theme

8:30 am – 12:30 pm (4 hours)

Part A must be answered in English

INSTRUCTIONS

This paper consists of five questions. Attempt ONE question only. Complete both Parts A and B of the question. Candidates should first complete Part A.

Part A: Art Appreciation and Criticism (45 minutes)

Write a critical appreciation of the works of art provided. Write your answer in the answer book provided, which will be collected 45 minutes after the start of the examination. This section carries 20 marks.

Part B: Visual Arts Making (3 hours and 15 minutes)

On the white cartridge paper provided, create a piece of two-dimensional artwork using any medium, form, style and technique to present a theme. Creative briefs such as notes, sketches and layouts that you produce for the examination should be written or drawn on the white bond paper provided. The white bond paper may be submitted along with the finished work to explain your artwork. This section carries 80 marks.

Not to be taken away before the end of the examination session

Attempt ONE of the following:

1. (A) Describe, analyse and compare the forms and expressions of Plate (1a) and Plate (1b); interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

Plate (1a) Huang Bore (黃般若). Victoria Peak (紅香爐峰). 1958.
Ink and colour on paper, 127.8 x 66.8 cm.

Plate (1a.1) Detail

Literal Description	Able to link different relevant foci, discover hidden details, and comprehend with innovative ideas	Able to link different relevant foci, and identify their relationships	Able to seek out many relevant, but not interrelated foci	Able to provide a single or barely relevant foci	Only provide plain description, vague and irrelevant foci
Formal Analysis	Able to connect with many relevant experiences and analyse effectively key message of artwork through integrative understanding of art forms	Able to connect art form in many related experiences and feelings, knowing the relationships among forms, and attempting to analyse key message of artwork	Able to connect different experiences and feelings with the visual form, without knowing the relationship among forms	Able to develop only single, linear and isolated recognition of visual form, without connecting to any experiences or feelings	Unable to develop basic understanding of visual forms
Interpretation of Meaning	Able to present innovative interpretation, through comprehending of multiple layers of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to compare and contrast many interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to provide multiple interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to provide certain interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Unable to provide any interpretations toward forms of presentation
Value Judgment	Able to integrate multiple criteria, and judge on the appropriateness ¹ and effectiveness ² in delivering the key message of presentation in different contexts	Able to quote multiple criteria to judge on the appropriateness and effectiveness in delivering the key message of presentation	Able to propose multiple criteria, yet unable to judge on the appropriateness in delivering the key message of presentation	Able to propose one or two criteria, yet without judging on the appropriateness of presentation	Unable to make any judgment on designated artwork

² Effectiveness is the capability of producing a desired, intended or expected outcome.

Part B (80 marks)

Candidates are assessed on their ability to select and manipulate visual language, media, materials, tools and techniques appropriate for the creative expression, communication of a theme or solving a particular problem.

On the white cartridge paper provided, create a piece of two-dimensional design work using any medium, form, style and technique to present a theme. This section carries 80 marks.

General marking guidelines:

With reference to the application of the visual element, the articulation of art media, technique, visual effect, idea development and design principles, evaluate the candidates' ability in the following areas:

1. Solving design problems

The extent to which the candidate is successfully proposes feasible solutions for a given problem, and is able to develop design concepts which convey the ideas of a theme.

2. Presenting ideas by using media, material and technique

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to apply the appropriate media, technique, and visual style to present the solution proposed.

3. Understanding and organization

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to apply appropriate visual elements such as colour, pattern, texture, shape, form; and design principles such as contrast, rhythm, balance and emphasis.

4. Communication

The extent to which the candidate is able convincingly to convey a theme.

5. Meeting design requirements

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to create a design that meets specific size, measurement and other requirements of the question.

6. Demonstrating originality

The extent to which the candidate is able to successfully convey design ideas which are original and creative.

The mark allocation is listed as below:

Marks/ Rubrics Marking Criteria	High	Middle			Low	Not Shown
	17-20	13-16	9-12	5-8	1-4	0
Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques	Able to select and master the materials and the skills accurately and effectively in implementing the key message of the theme	Able to master the materials and the skills appropriately and effectively in outstanding the key message of the theme	Able to master the materials and the skills appropriately in delivering the key message of the theme	Able to use the materials and the skills relevant to the theme	Unable to use the materials and the skills to cope with the theme
Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design	Able to select and master multiple visual elements and principles of design, accurately and effectively in implementing the key message of the theme	Able to master multiple visual elements and principles of design appropriately and effectively in outstanding the key message of the theme	Able to master the visual elements and principles of design appropriately in delivering the key message of the theme	Able to use the visual elements and principles of design relevant to the theme	Unable to use the visual elements and principles of design to cope with the theme
Creativity & Imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and unique imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and rich imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and by means of transference or association	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics or originality	Unable to show personality characteristics or originality
Communication of the Theme	Able to integrate relevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Able to use multiple, relevant and coordinate forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Able to use relevant and coordinate forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Only use irrelevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Unable to use any relevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea

Specific marking criteria:

1. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (1a) and Plate (1b) with respect to the design concepts, silhouettes, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	The Hunger Games: Mockingjay – Part 2 Actress styling	Alessandro Trincone's Menswear
Commonalities	▪ with dramatic effect ▪ full body clothing ▪ with accessories ▪ monotone
Differences	Outfit: a long-sleeved top with armor on the shoulder and chest, trousers and boots are on the lower body, and an archery glove on the right hand. Tight outfits with bow and arrows, and a bird Colour: bright red, warm colour Concept: warrior	Outfit: the headdress is a big hat like an oriental umbrella, the upper body is a shirt, the sleeve is tied with long cloth strips, and the lower body is a suspender dress with rich layers Colour: white and grey-blue, cool colour Concept: Rōnin (wandering samurai)

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
 - Differences in function
 - The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
 - Relation between the product and user
 3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
 4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives
- (B) Design an image styling for a male leading character, 'Prince of the Bamboo Forest', of a science fiction movie named 'Wonderland'.

The design should include:

- Headdress
- Top and bottom clothing

EACH design item should have TWO 3-dimensional renderings with an indication of the measurements and materials used. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: science fiction movie, Wonderland and Prince of the Bamboo Forest
- The characteristics of the image styling for the science fiction movie are coordinated with design
- The use of the materials is suitable for the design

2. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (2a) and Plate (2b) with respect to the design concepts, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	HERITAGE Illustration	WWF's NO BALANCE NO LIFE Poster
Commonalities	▪ graphic design ▪ protection for environment and nature as subject matter ▪ images of human and animals ▪ Sans Serif typeface
Differences	Image: The upper part is the silhouette of a human evolution map, and the lower part is some wastes buried underground, including plastic bags, shopping bags, wheels, supermarket trolley and radioactive waste containers. The logo of the organisation is at the top right corner Composition: symmetry Colour: grey, green and light brown Format: digital retouched image Concept: balance

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The usage of colour, shape, symbols and type, and composition of the designs
 - The relation between graphics, colour selection and designs
 3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
 4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives
- (B) Based on the theme 'Hiking is Fun' (行山樂), design a series of TWO banners in a country park to remind the public about hiking safety. The message for the 1st banner is 'hike together'. The message for the 2nd banner is 'drink more water'.

The design should include:

- The theme - Hiking is Fun (行山樂) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)

The design items are to be placed in a country park at the locations as shown in Plate (2c.1) and Plate (2c.2) respectively.

The measurements of EACH design item should be REDUCED to 24 cm x 24 cm. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: hiking is fun
- The design corresponds with the characteristics of the place where it is placed: a country park
- Text, visuals and messages (hike together and drink more water) are incorporated effectively in the design
- Readability and legibility should be well considered in the design

3. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (3a) and Plate (3b) with respect to the design concepts, structures, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	FLOWER GARDEN Plant Packaging	Table Wine Packaging
Commonalities	▪ collapsible packaging design ▪ portable ▪ can display product
Differences	Structure: a 3-D design constructed with folded paper, with a handle on the upper part. The left and right sides are open so that the plants can be seen Colour: white, green and different tones of purple and blue Typeface: San Serif Materials: paper	Structure: it is composed of two wooden boards and strings. It can be used as a portable table wine packaging. The wine bottle can be placed with an angle to form a wine rack when the strings and the wood boards are reassembled Colour: raw wooden colour Typeface: none Materials: wood board and string

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
 - Differences in function
 - The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
 - Relation between the product and user
3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design TWO gift boxes for a cupcake bakery named 'Little Bee' (小蜜蜂). One is a one-pack gift box and the other is a three-pack gift box.

The design should:

- Include the name of the bakery - Little Bee (小蜜蜂) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)
- Ensure that the cupcake(s) (Plate (3c)) will not tilt
- Allow all cupcake(s) to be seen without opening the gift box

EACH design item should have TWO 3-dimensional renderings with an indication of the measurements and materials used. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Little Bee
- The design is provided with functions: for one-pack and three-pack gift box, will not tilt and all cupcake(s) to be seen without opening the gift box
- The coherence of visual effect is considered in the design
- The suitability of materials is well considered in the design

4. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (4a) and Plate (4b) with respect to the design concepts, structures, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
 - Precise detail in description

Comparison	Cartier Visual Merchandising Design	SOLLOS Product Display Booth Design
Commonalities	▪ 3-D form ▪ functional ▪ promote and display products
Differences	Structure: the platform is connected to a backdrop with different sizes of 3-D flowers, and the company logo in the upper center. A rectangular four-legged stand is placed on the platform to support a glass cabinet. There are three sets of jewelry and a set of 3-D flowers in the cabinet, and spotlights are installed above Materials: wood, metal, glass and paper Colour: dark brown, beige and gold Concept: elegant and precious	Structure: an oval-shaped large-scale 3-D booth is composed of multiple rectangular grids of different sizes, and each grid is placed with different furniture and electronic screen. A reception room with a large oval table, eight chairs and several lamps, surrounded by curtains is inside Materials: wood, metal, glass and fabrics Colour: wooden colour Concept: simplicity and affinity

2. Formal Analysis
 - A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
 - Differences in function
 - The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
 - Relation between the product and user
3. Interpretation of Meaning
 - An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
 - An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design a booth for a charity fundraising event named 'Save the Polar Bears' (救救北極熊). The design is to be placed in the atrium of the shopping mall as shown in Plate (4c). The BASE of the design should not exceed 400 cm x 200 cm.

The design should include:

- The name of the event - Save the Polar Bears (救救北極熊) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)
- A mascot (as shown in Plate (4d))
- A fundraising box

The design should have TWO 3-dimensional renderings with an indication of the measurements and materials used. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Save the Polar Bears
- The design is provided with functions for promotion and fundraising
- Ergonomics and the safety for the participants are taken into consideration in the design
- The suitability of materials is well considered in the design

5. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (5a) and Plate (5b) with respect to the design concepts, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

 - The usage of colour, shape, symbols and type, and composition of the designs
 - The relation between graphics, colour selection and designs
3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design a STICKER for a refrigerator glass door (Plate (5c)) for a dairy company named 'Sunny' (晴天) to promote the benefits of drinking milk.

The design should:

- Include the logo of the company (Plate (5d))
- Include a slogan - Milk = Health (牛奶=健康) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)
- Allow products to be seen without opening the refrigerator door

The design should be REDUCED to the measurements as shown in Plate (5e). (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the text messages, visuals and theme: Milk = Health
- The design corresponds with the characteristics of the place where it is placed: refrigerator door
- The design is provided with functions: products to be seen without opening the refrigerator door
- Readability and legibility are considered in the design

Candidates' Performance

This year, 3372 candidates sat the examination, with 2211 candidates taking Paper 1 and 1161 taking Paper 2.

Public Examination

Paper 1 Visual Presentation of a Theme

In general, most candidates in Part A were able to point out a variety of relevant foci in literal description. Some candidates were able to connect different experiences and feelings with the visual forms, providing multiple interpretations of meaning towards the form of presentation. Some responded to one criterion or two related to value judgment of the designated artwork to judge the appropriateness of the presentation.

For Part B, most candidates used acrylic as their creative medium. They demonstrated a mastery of the materials and skills appropriately in delivering the key messages of the theme. They were able to express the key messages of the artwork using appropriate visual language. Most candidates demonstrated personality traits and originality by means of transference or association. Most candidates were able to use relevant and coordinates forms of artistic creation in different emotions or ideas. However, some candidates failed to understand the questions' requirements fully, resulting in their works being superficial. Candidates should carefully read the instructions for the questions before answering them.

Question No.	Popularity (%)	Performance in General
1	10	Good. Most of the candidates used a realistic style to express their response to the theme. They used raindrops, rainbow, umbrellas and raincoats to convey the scene after the rain. The interpretation of the theme was literal and direct. A few candidates provided elaborate scenery to deliver an abundant and appealing content with great significance. Some candidates did not include the element of the 'deep in the mountains' and painted a scene without contextualisation. The interpretation of the theme was therefore flat and tedious.
2	3	Satisfactory. Most of the candidates used a surrealist style to express their response to the theme. Most candidates interpreted chopsticks in the context of eating. The interpretation of the theme was literal and direct. Some candidates demonstrated imagination in transforming the images into imaginative scenes. Candidates demonstrated a varied expression of colour, composition and perspectives.
3	15	Good. Most candidates used dandelion, tidbits and balloons to convey the sense of floating. Most candidates used a surrealist style to present their responses to the theme. Some candidates did not include the element of the 'in the wind' and painted a scene without contextualisation. The interpretation of the theme was therefore flat and tedious. A small number of candidates elaborated the scenery and provided the work with good and meaningful details.
4	12	Fair. Most candidates used the sun and stars as a contrast in their work to show the difference between a scene during the daytime and nighttime. Some candidates managed to creatively compose objects and activities from their surroundings and present the theme clearly. However, some candidates left out the element of 'ferris wheel' and instead just painted the two spaces without further interpretation.
5	60	Very good. Most candidates depicted a happy and harmonious sentiment about being alone. Most candidates used a realistic style to express their responses to the theme. Some candidates made the contrast between one person with others in their work while presenting the atmosphere of two scenes. Some candidates demonstrated imagination in transforming the images into their works, expressing the theme lively and effectively. Candidates demonstrated a varied expression of colour, composition and perspectives.

Paper 2 Design

In Part A, most candidates were able to identify a variety of relevant foci in the literal description. They provided meaningful interpretations of representation and related visual forms to different experiences or feelings. However, some failed to understand the relationship between forms, without connecting to any experiences or feelings. Many candidates only offered one criterion or two for value judgement of the designs but did not judge whether the designs were appropriate.

The themes of the questions were based on candidates' everyday experience. However, some works lacked depth because candidates attempted the question without fulfilling all the requirements and painted a scene without contextualisation. Candidates should read and follow the instructions of the question carefully. In Part B, most candidates used markers as the medium of depiction. They demonstrated a mastery of materials, skills and visual elements in delivering the key messages of a given theme. Most candidates demonstrated personality traits and originality by means of transference or association. Most candidates were able to use relevant and coordinated forms of artistic creation with different emotions or ideas. Some of the scripts showed a high level of design ability, effectively organising materials and presenting style.

Question No.	Popularity (%)	Performance in General
1	13	Very good. Most candidates used marker pens as the drawing medium and used different images to echo the theme of 'Prince of the Bamboo Forest'. Some candidates demonstrated excellent illustration skills in presenting the design in an exciting and compelling display. Most candidates showed an understanding of the use of materials in their design. A small number of candidates did not focus on the meaning of a 'science fiction movie' and designed the outfit without relating to its theme.
2	26	Good. The best scripts showed good illustration skills. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concepts and artful execution of designs in dealing with the poster design with the messages and the theme. However, some candidates showed little deliberation regarding the readability and legibility of the typography design. They also showed little concern for the kerning and tracking between letters. Some candidates did not pay attention to the location for displaying or the serial of the posters, resulting in a failure to deliver the design.
3	34	Good. Most candidates showed their understanding of the packaging product in their design. Most candidates used different images like a bee or bees and hive to echo the theme. Designs which demonstrated good illustration skills showed a comprehensive consideration and reflection in the idea development. However, some candidates had trouble understanding the requirements of packing cupcakes, resulting in the misinterpretation of the design format required.
4	3	Good. The best scripts showed good illustration skills. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concept and artful execution of their design in dealing with the fundraising box design and the image of 'Save the Polar Bears'. However, some performed less satisfactorily in presenting the 3-dimensional design with messy arrangements of forms.
5	24	Good. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concept and artful execution of their designs in dealing with the book cover design with the image of milk = health. The best scripts conveyed a sense of humour and showed good illustration skills. However, some candidates did not pay attention to the design requirement of the sticker for a refrigerator glass door and designed the sticker without relating to its purpose.

School-based Assessment

This year, a total number of 374 schools and 3491 students participated in the SBA process. Among them, 13 are network schools. The schools participating in the examination were divided into 17 groups, each of which was monitored and supported by an experienced subject teacher, as the District Coordinator, who coordinated and supervised the conduct of SBA processes within the group.

The moderation method and procedures of SBA this year were the same as those of previous years. Each school submitted marks and provided the HKEAA with portfolios randomly drawn from six strata. Portfolio assessors and SBA supervisors reviewed students' sample works submitted by schools. Where there were significant differences between the scores given by schools and subject experts, visits were made to the schools concerned to review the students' full portfolios and recommend mark adjustments if deemed necessary. According to the moderated scores, 78% of schools fell within the expected range this year. It is very close to last year, and hence, illustrates that teachers have mastered the criteria and method for marking the SBA.

This year, as in the previous year, two SBA supervisors were appointed to oversee the implementation of the SBA assessment process. Experienced VA teachers were invited as District Coordinators to liaise with VA school teachers. They provided quality assurance – in the form of orientation, consultation, support and guidance, to teachers in the districts to ensure that the SBA processes are executed in accordance with the designated criteria and requirements listed out in the publicised HKEAA SBA Handbook.

Two district coordination meetings were organised in the past year. In addition, two meetings for SBA Supervisors and District Coordinators and two SBA Conferences were also conducted. Through exercises in examining and assessing actual sample portfolios, subject teachers had the chance to share experiences in assessment which contributed to maintain the standardisation and quality of the SBA marking process.

Most of the Research Workbooks submitted for moderation were completed and ready for assessment – together with the two pieces of art work required. The best Research Workbooks illustrated a wide range of effort in searching materials, reading articles, referencing different artworks, and perusing artists, etc. However, some students simply record all the events chronologically throughout their study in the Research Workbooks. This is not desirable as the Research Workbooks should present a concise compilation of students' creative and learning process at different significant points, with self-reflections and decisions which should be distilled from their own consolidation, analysis and evaluation.

Some Research Workbooks are still dependent on texts and pieces of writing to communicate their emotional responses, analysis and conclusions. It is strongly recommended that students should record their learning journey through visual and illustrative means to present their creative process. Students were encouraged to use sketches, drawings, found objects/images, photos or collages, etc. as their records for their observations, discoveries, feedback or afterthoughts.

Some Research Workbooks were found to be filled with many pages of photocopies, or second-hand information downloaded from the internet, without acknowledgment of the sources. In these cases, plagiarism and violation of the examination regulations may have been committed, although sometimes unintentionally. Once this kind of malpractice is confirmed, candidates will be subject to severe penalties. Students can refer to the information leaflet HKDSE Examination-Information on School-based Assessment (http://www.hkeaa.edu.hk/DocLibrary/Media/Leaflets/SBA_pamphlet_E_web.pdf) for guidance on how to properly acknowledge sources of information quoted in their works.

The experience gained and inspiration gathered through the creation of each artwork provided further development for the next artwork with direct connections. Therefore, sub-topics derived for the series of artwork can be done after the completion of each piece of artwork, instead of at the beginning of the making stage. On the other hand, themes of the portfolios are usually initiated from students' personal experiences or interests. It is observed that several portfolios used common themes or were formatted collectively among students. This type of approach defeats students' understanding of the creative processes and the cultivation of personal insights.

Students showed themselves to be familiar with a wide range of artistic media like painting, illustration, sculpture, graphic design, and printmaking, while fashion design, installation art, digital drawing and animations, were tried out. This reflected a healthy diversity of students' interests in expressive means and their capabilities. Some students chose 3D forms to execute their concepts or ideas. However, some 3D artworks are presented in an unfinished status which reduced their appeal and visual qualities. More explorations should be made into the application of suitable visual languages, and their relationship and development process into specific visual styles, forms, materials, and tools as well as the techniques for fabrication.

Presentation of digital media like animation or videos showed some improvements. The use of appropriate storyboards showed a full range of relevant technical information and details about the creation. Screen captures of keyframes were also useful for illustrative intents as well.

Students' self-reflection and evaluation focused on matters related to the creative process, such as techniques, tools or materials. It is suggested that they could have reflected on what they have learned and/or benefited from the artmaking process including decision-making, critiques or judgments on references. School teachers and students can refer to the relevant information in the Visual Arts Curriculum and Assessment Guide (Secondary 4-6) for recommendations regarding such operations;
