Introduction

This publication provides a comprehensive report on the Visual Arts examination in the 2024 Hong Kong Diploma of Secondary Education Examination. It covers various aspects of the examination, including the objectives, contents and format of the examination, the question papers, the marking schemes, and the chief examiners' comments on candidates' performance in the live examination. Some statistics are also included.

Through this publication, we hope to provide useful information and feedback to assist teachers in their teaching of the subject and students in their learning. Similar publications are also available for other subjects in the 2024 HKDSE. Besides, a series of publications and resource materials related to the HKDSE are also available for reference to schools, candidates and the public. These include information related to examination administration, assessment requirements, examination-related statistics and feedback provided to schools and other stakeholders. For details, please visit the Authority's website (http://www.hkeaa.edu.hk/en/HKDSE/info_corner/hkdse_publications_materials/).

We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to all the examination personnel who were involved in the development of question papers and the assessment of candidates' performance. Without their contributions, it would not have been possible for us to conduct the examination smoothly.

The Examination

Objectives

The objectives of the public examination include the assessment of candidates' ability to:

- describe, analyse, interpret and evaluate artwork in writing;
- select and manipulate visual language, media, materials, tools and techniques appropriate for the creative expression and communication of a topic/theme or for solving a particular problem.

The objectives of SBA include the assessment of candidates' ability to:

- generate ideas through observation, experience, imagination, technology and other skills;
- develop themes of personal feelings or ideas, or social-related issues or ideas for problem solving through identifying, selecting and organizing primary and secondary resources;
- analyse, interpret and make critical judgment of artwork/art phenomena showing understanding of form, purpose, meaning and context in writing;
- transform and integrate experiences, knowledge and perspectives constructed from art appreciation and criticism, and other areas into art making practice;
- explore, select and manipulate appropriate visual language, media, materials, tools, skills, techniques and imagery for creative expression and communication of a theme or for the solving of a particular problem;
- continuously reflect on, respond to and evaluate their own and others' practice and work, and consequently modify their own work.

Synopsis of curriculum contents

For details, please refer to the Visual Arts Curriculum and Assessment Guide (Secondary 4 to 6) jointly prepared by the Curriculum Development Council and the Hong Kong Examinations and Assessment Authority.

PART ONE

Paper 1: Visual Presentation of a Theme

Part A: Art Appreciation and Criticism (45 minutes)

Write a critical appreciation of the reproductions of artwork provided.

Part B: Visual Arts Making (3 hours and 15 minutes)

Create a piece of artwork to present a theme. Candidates may submit a creative brief which may include notes, sketches or layouts produced during the examination to support their artwork, if necessary. The practical work and the creative brief will be assessed as a whole and no separate marks will be awarded to the creative brief.

Paper 2: Design

Part A: Design Appreciation and Criticism (45 minutes)

Write a critical appreciation of the reproductions of design provided.

Part B: Design (3 hours and 15 minutes)

Solve design problem(s) and present a design work. Candidates may submit a design brief which may include notes, sketches or layouts produced during the examination to support their design work, if necessary. The practical work and the design brief will be assessed as a whole and no separate marks will be awarded to the design brief.

PART TWO

SCHOOL-BASED ASSESSMENT (SBA)

Candidates are required to submit ONE portfolio which should consist of:

(a) Research Workbook (presentations on art appreciation and criticism in context in relation to art making/critical studies and research processes) showing:

- evidence (e.g. sketches, photographs, notes) of how ideas are generated and recorded through observation, experience, imagination, technology and other skills;
- exploration and development of a theme/topic for art appreciation and criticism, and art making;
- presentations on art appreciation and criticism in context in relation to art making/critical studies, with evidence of research into the socio-cultural and historical contexts of more than one culture; and criticism of artwork/art phenomena /visual cultures from different perspectives and with different aesthetic values to the candidates' own;
- how artists' work has influenced their own art making/critical studies;
- exploration of and experimentation with media, materials, skills and techniques for the presentation of the selected theme;
- reflection on, evaluation of and refining of their own work;

and

(b) Artwork/Critical studies (FOUR THREE pieces of work in the portfolio) for the presentation of the selected theme(s):

- All of the ~~four~~ three pieces of work can be artwork, or one to ~~three~~ two pieces of them can be critical studies;
- Any media, materials, skills and techniques can be used for the production of the artwork.

Mode of assessment

The public assessment will consist of a public examination component and a school-based assessment component as outlined in the following table:

Component		Weighting	Duration

Marking Criteria	5	4	3	2	1	0
Literal Description	Able to link different relevant foci, discover hidden details, and comprehend with innovative ideas	Able to link different relevant foci, and identify their relationships	Able to seek out many relevant, but not interrelated foci	Able to provide a single or barely relevant foci	Only provide plain description, vague and irrelevant foci
Formal Analysis	Able to connect with many relevant experiences and analyse effectively key message of artwork through integrative understanding of art forms	Able to connect art form in many related experiences and feelings, knowing the relationships among forms, and attempting to analyse key message of artwork	Able to connect different experiences and feelings with the visual form, without knowing the relationship among forms	Able to develop only single, linear and isolated recognition of visual form, without connecting to any experiences or feelings	Unable to develop basic understanding of visual forms
Interpretation of Meaning	Able to present innovative interpretation through comprehending of multiple layers of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to compare or contrast many interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to provide multiple interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Able to provide certain interpretations of meaning toward forms of presentation	Unable to provide any interpretations toward forms of presentation
Value Judgment	Able to integrate multiple criteria, and judge on the appropriateness ¹ and effectiveness ² in delivering the key message of presentation in different contexts	Able to quote multiple criteria to judge on the appropriateness and effectiveness in delivering the key message of presentation	Able to propose multiple criteria, yet unable to judge on the appropriateness in delivering the key message of presentation	Able to propose one or two criteria, yet without judging on the appropriateness of presentation	Unable to make any judgment on designated artwork

² Effectiveness is the capability of producing a desired, intended or expected outcome.

Part B (80 marks)

Candidates are assessed on their ability to select and manipulate visual language, media, materials, tools and techniques appropriate for the creative expression, communication of a theme or solving a particular problem.

On the white cartridge paper provided, create a piece of two-dimensional design work using any medium, form, style and technique to present a theme. This section carries 80 marks.

General marking guidelines:

With reference to the application of the visual element, the articulation of art media, technique, visual effect, idea development and design principles, evaluate the candidates' ability in the following areas:

1. Solving design problems

The extent to which the candidate is successfully proposes feasible solutions for a given problem, and is able to develop design concepts which convey the ideas of a theme.

2. Presenting ideas by using media, material and technique

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to apply the appropriate media, technique, and visual style to present the solution proposed.

3. Understanding and organization

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to apply appropriate visual elements such as colour, pattern, texture, shape, form; and design principles such as contrast, rhythm, balance and emphasis.

4. Communication

The extent to which the candidate is able convincingly to convey a theme.

5. Meeting design requirements

The extent to which the candidate is able successfully to create a design that meets specific size, measurement and other requirements of the question.

6. Demonstrating originality

The extent to which the candidate is able to successfully convey design ideas which are original and creative.

The mark allocation is listed as below:

Marks/ Rubrics	High	Middle			Low	Not Shown
Marking Criteria	17-20	13-16	9-12	5-8	1-4	0
Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques	Able to select and master the materials and the skills accurately and effectively in implementing the key message of the theme	Able to master the materials and the skills appropriately and effectively in outstanding the key message of the theme	Able to master the materials and the skills appropriately in delivering the key message of the theme	Able to use the materials and the skills relevant to the theme	Unable to use the materials and the skills to cope with the theme
Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design	Able to select and master multiple visual elements and principles of design, accurately and effectively in implementing the key message of the theme	Able to master multiple visual elements and principles of design appropriately and effectively in outstanding the key message of the theme	Able to master the visual elements and principles of design appropriately in delivering the key message of the theme	Able to use the visual elements and principles of design relevant to the theme	Unable to use the visual elements and principles of design to cope with the theme
Creativity & Imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and unique imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and rich imagination	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics through originality and by means of transference or association	Able to demonstrate personality characteristics or originality	Unable to show personality characteristics or originality
Communication of the Theme	Able to integrate relevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Able to use multiple, relevant and coordinate forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Able to use relevant and coordinate forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Only use irrelevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea	Unable to use any relevant forms of artistic creation in different emotions or idea

Specific marking criteria:

1. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (1a) and Plate (1b) with respect to the design concepts, silhouettes, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	Liam Hodges's Menswear	Nao Raviv's Womenswear
Commonalities	▪ youth clothing
Differences	Clothing: traditional tailored white shirt, a loose denim long coat and trousers printed with graffiti, a black belt and white sneakers Modeling: young man in street clothes, clown makeup on his face, and a bright green Buzz Cut hairstyle Colour: light blue, white and black Concept: rebellious	Clothing: unconventional tailored see-through short dress, with simple lines formed abstract shapes. Black platform shoes with orange stocks Modeling: conceptual women's clothing, bright red lips, and a short bundle hairstyle parting in the middle Colour: black, white and orange Concept: abstract sculpture

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
 - Differences in function
 - The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
 - Relation between the product and user
 3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
 4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives
- (B) Design ONE SET of uniform for both men and women promotion ambassador of the 'Digital Games Hong Kong' based on the theme 'Virtual and Real'.

The design should include:

- Top clothing
- Bottom clothing

EACH design item should have TWO 3-dimensional renderings with an indication of the measurements and materials used. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can demonstrate:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Skills of Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Digital Games Hong Kong, Virtual and Real, and promotion ambassador
- The characteristics of the image styling for promotion ambassador of the Digital Games Hong Kong are coordinated with design
- The use of the materials is suitable for the design

2. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (2a) and Plate (2b) with respect to the design concepts, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	Santiago Peralta's Solution Pollution Poster	Leagas Delaney's Plant for the Planet Advertisement
Commonalities	▪ graphic design ▪ environmental protection as the subject matter
Differences	Image: a person, a bicycle, and a car are merged together. When the person and bicycle are on top, the word 'Solution' is seen; when the person and bicycle are turned upside down, the car is on top and the word 'Pollution' is seen Colour: blue and white, high contrast Typeface: Sans Serif italic Format: pictogram Concept: choice	Image: two leaves with negative silhouettes of multiple moving vehicles and exhaust fumes from the factory. There are text and logos on the lower left Colour: different tones of yellowish green and white, low contrast Typeface: Sans Serif Format: photography and digital retouching Concept: reflection

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The usage of colour, shape, symbols and type, and composition of the designs
 - The relation between graphics, colour selection and designs
3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design TWO advertisements to be placed at a bus stop (plate (2c)) for a housing estate named Simple Home (易居) with 'energy saving' and 'green environment' as its selling points.

The design should include:

- The name of the housing estate: Simple Home (易居) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)

The design should be REDUCED to the measurements as shown in Plate (2d). (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can demonstrate:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Skills of Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Simple Home
- The design corresponds with the characteristics of the place where it is placed: a bus stop
- Text, visuals and messages (energy saving and green environment) are incorporated effectively in the design
- Readability and legibility should be well considered in the design

3. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (3a) and Plate (3b) with respect to the design concepts, structures, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

Comparison	Feng Zhe, Ouyang Ling and Wu Weili's JIGSAW-CUIT Biscuit Packaging	Tiger Tribe's Airport Toy Boxset
Commonalities	▪ multifunctional packaging ▪ product name is printed on the packaging
Differences	Structure and Content: a cylindrical carton, the large ring-shaped box is on the outside, surrounding the small box in the middle. The box is divided into two levels to store different accessories such as aircrafts, a helicopter, and runway extensions. The runways can be extended forming an airport with two runways Image: the product name and product diagram are printed on the front side of the panel. The check-in counters, staff, and passengers inside the airport are printed on the two panels Colour: raw wood, blue, green and grey Typeface: Sans Serif Materials: wood and plastic Concept: all-in-one

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
 - Differences in function
 - The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
 - Relation between the product and user
3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design the surface graphics of the drinks packaging (Plate (3c)) for a series of THREE drinks targeting young people for a beverage company named 'Fresh' (鲜). The three drinks are:

- Pineapple and orange
- Carrot and cucumber
- Apple and pear

The design should include:

- The name of the company - Fresh (鲜) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)

EACH design item should have ONE 3-dimensional rendering. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can demonstrate:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Fresh, pineapple and orange, carrot and cucumber, and apple and pear
- The coherence of the visual effect (three drinks) is considered in the design
- Text, visuals and messages are incorporated effectively in the design

4. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (4a) and Plate (4b) with respect to the design concepts, structures, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

1. Literal Description
Precise detail in description

There are seats, ropes and other recreational facilities under the vault Interior: children's recreational facilities designed with honeycomb images Materials: wood, steel, rope and cement Colour: dark brown, light brown, yellow, green and pastel blue Concept: harmonious and gregarious

2. Formal Analysis

A reasonable depth of analysis

- The inter-relationships among the various visual characteristics
- Differences in function
- The relation between materials and structure selection and product's nature
- Relation between the product and user

3. Interpretation of Meaning

An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives

4. Value Judgment

An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Design two types of recreational facilities for children aged 6 - 12 based on the theme 'Colourful Nature'. The designs are to be placed in a country park as shown in Plate (4c).

The designs are:

- A slide
- Two swings

EACH design should have TWO 3-dimensional renderings with an indication of the measurements and materials used. (80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can demonstrate:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the theme: Colourful Nature
- The design corresponds with the characteristics of the place where it is placed: a country park
- Ergonomics and the safety for the participants are taken into consideration in the design
- The suitability of materials is well considered in the design

5. (A) Describe, analyse and compare Plate (5a) and Plate (5b) with respect to the design concepts, visual effects and communication effects of the two designs; interpret and evaluate these works. (20 marks)

With regards to the designs, candidates are assessed on whether they can give:

2. Formal Analysis
A reasonable depth of analysis
 - The usage of colour, shape, symbols and type, and composition of the designs
 - The relation between graphics, colour selection and designs
3. Interpretation of Meaning
An in-depth interpretation from varied perspectives
4. Value Judgment
An in-depth evaluation from varied perspectives

- (B) Based on the theme 'We Are Family' (一家人), design a set of TWO posters to promote care for family members. The messages for the two posters are 'always communicate' and 'exercise together' respectively.

The design should include:

- The theme: We Are Family (一家人) (in Chinese, English or both Chinese and English)

The measurements of EACH design item should be 20 cm x 30 cm (in vertical orientation).

(80 marks)

With regards to the design, candidates are assessed on whether they can demonstrate:

1. Selection and Use of Materials & Techniques
2. Selection and Use of Visual Elements and Principles of Design
3. Creativity & Imagination
4. Communication of the Theme

Focus:

- The design corresponds with the text messages, visuals and theme: We are Family
- Text, visuals and messages (always communicate and exercise together) are incorporated effectively in the design
- Readability and legibility are considered in the design

Candidates' Performance

This year, 3629 candidates sat the examination, with 2448 candidates taking Paper 1 and 1181 taking Paper 2.

Public Examination

Paper 1 Visual Presentation of a Theme

In general, most of candidates in Part A were able to point out a variety of relevant foci in literal description. Some candidates were able to connect different experiences and feelings with the visual forms, providing multiple interpretations of meaning towards the form of presentation. Some responded to one criterion or two related to value judgment of the designated artwork to judge the appropriateness of the presentation.

For Part B, most of candidates used acrylic as their medium of expression. They demonstrated a mastery of the materials and skills appropriately in delivering the key messages of the theme. They were able to express the key messages of the artwork using appropriate visual language. Most of candidates demonstrated personality traits and originality by using transference or association. Most of candidates were able to use relevant and coordinates forms of artistic creation in different emotions or ideas. Some of the scripts showed a high level of painting skills, effective organisation of subject matters and unique presentation styles. However, some works lacked depth because candidates attempted the question without fulfilling all the requirements and painted a scene without contextualisation. Candidates should read and follow the instructions of the questions carefully.

Question No.	Popularity (%)	Performance in General
1	14	Satisfactory. Most of the candidates used a realistic style to express their responses to the theme. They used trees and brushwood to delineate convey the natural environment of countryside. The interpretation of the theme was literal and direct. They used bees and butterflies to convey the scene of fragrant flowers. A few candidates provided elaborate scenery to deliver an abundant and appealing content with great significance. Some candidates did not include the element of 'a spring morning' and painted a scene without contextualisation. The interpretation of the theme was therefore ambiguous.
2	11	Satisfactory. Most of the candidates used a realistic style to express their responses to the theme. Most of candidates used 'racing' to convey the atmosphere of the athletics meet. Some candidates used smart phones to express the interpretation of 'camera lens'. Some candidates used images inside and outside the lens to illustrate events during the sports meeting at different times in a lively way. Candidates demonstrated a varied expression of colour, composition and perspective.
3	12	Good. Most of the candidates used a surrealistic style to express their responses to the theme. Most of candidates used the situation of riding on white cloud(s) to express travelling through time and space. Some candidates provided the 'past', 'present' and 'future' scenery to deliver an abundant and appealing content with great significance. Some candidates did not include the element of the 'future' and painted a scene without contextualisation. The interpretation of the theme was therefore flat and tedious.
4	28	Very good. Most of candidates portrayed directly a scene of studying as the interpretation of 'wanting to fly'. They used a surrealistic style to express their responses to the theme. Some demonstrated a negative feeling in transforming the images into the interpretation of their present life. Some candidates demonstrated imagination in transforming the images into wing(s), thus expressing the theme in a lively and effective manner.
5	35	Very good. Most of candidates portrayed cooking as expressing the meaning of 'temperature'. Most of candidates used a realistic style to express their response to the theme. Some candidates demonstrated imagination by transforming the scenes for kitchen and delivered an abundant and appealing content that had great significance. Some candidates demonstrated a varied expression of colour, composition and perspective, with some creatively constructed a 'scalding' sense and expressed the theme livelily and effectively.

Paper 2 Design

In Part A, most of candidates were able to identify a variety of relevant foci in the literal description. They provided meaningful interpretations of representation and related visual forms to different experiences or feelings. However, some failed to understand the relationship between forms without connecting to any experiences or feelings. Many candidates only offered one criterion or two for judging the value of the designs but did not judge whether the designs were appropriate.

In Part B, most of candidates used markers as the medium of depiction. They demonstrated a mastery of materials, skills and visual elements in delivering the key messages of a given theme. Most of candidates demonstrated personality traits and originality by means of transference or association. Most of candidates were able to use relevant and coordinated forms of artistic creation with different emotions or ideas. The themes of the questions were based on candidates' everyday experiences. However, some candidates failed to fully understand the requirements of the questions, making their work superficial. Candidates should carefully read the instructions for the questions before answering them.

1	13	Good. Most of candidates showed their understanding of the use of materials in the design. Some candidates demonstrated good illustration skills in presenting the design in a lively and effective way. A small number of candidates did not focus on the meaning of 'virtual and real' and designed the outfit without relating to the theme. A few candidates' works showed a lack of understanding of the features of uniform, and thus failed to deliver the design of the outfit.
2	27	Satisfactory. Some candidates used images of a light bulb and plants to echo the selling points of 'energy saving' and 'green environment'. The best scripts showed good illustration skills. Some designs contained an excessive number of images, resulting in a superficial illustration. Some candidates did not pay attention to the location for displaying the advertisements, resulting in a failure to deliver the design.
3	31	Satisfactory. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concept and artfulness in their designs in dealing with the drinks packaging design with the image of fruit and vegetables. The best scripts conveyed a sense of humour and showed good illustration skills. However, some candidates had trouble in understanding the requirements of the packing items, resulting in the misinterpretation of the design.
4	6	Very good. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concept and artful execution of their designs in dealing with the design. The best scripts conveyed a comprehensive consideration of the idea development and showed good illustration skills. However, some candidates ignored the description of the target group in the question, resulting in a superficial design. Some performed less satisfactorily in presenting the three-dimensional design with messy arrangement of forms.
5	23	Good. Some candidates used images of hiking to echo the idea of 'exercise together'. The best scripts showed good illustration skills. Some candidates demonstrated maturity in concept and artful execution of designs in dealing with the poster design with the theme and the messages. However, some candidates did not pay attention to the requirements of the sense of serial of the posters, resulting in flat and tedious works.

School-based Assessment

This year, a total number of 377 schools and 3628 students participated in the SBA process. Among these, 5 were network schools. The schools participating in the examination were further divided into 17 groups, each of which was monitored and supported by an experienced subject teacher, as the District Coordinator who supported, coordinated and supervised the conduct of SBA processes within the group, throughout the year.

This year, as in the previous years, each school submitted marks given internally. At the same time, they provided the HKEAA with portfolios randomly drawn from six strata of the class of students. Portfolio assessors and SBA supervisors then reviewed students' sample works handed in by the schools. Visits were arranged to the schools concerned to review the students' full portfolios – where there were significant differences between the scores given by schools and subject experts. Recommended mark adjustments were made after the review, if deemed necessary. The moderation process of the SBA went smoothly this year as in previous years. According to the moderated scores, 79% of schools fell within the expected range. It is extremely close to last year, and hence can help illustrate that most of the teachers have mastered or familiarised themselves with the criteria and methods for grading the SBA component of the Visual Arts.

Two SBA supervisors were appointed to oversee the implementation of the SBA assessment process this year. Experienced Visual Arts teachers were invited to act as District Coordinators to liaise with and support the frontline Visual Arts school teachers in the SBA assessment processes. The aims are to provide quality assurance – in the form of assistance like orientation, consultation, support and guidance, to teachers within the district to ensure that the SBA procedures are implemented in accordance with the designated criteria and requirements listed in the published HKEAA SBA Handbook.

Two district coordination meetings were organised this year. In addition, two meetings for SBA Supervisors and District Coordinators and two SBA Conferences were also conducted. Through exercises in discussing, examining and assessing actual sample portfolios, subject teachers had the chance to share experiences and/or opinions about SBA assessment. It is through these activities that the understanding and maintenance of the standards and quality of the SBA marking process is achieved.

The research workbook should be concise and clear. Students are encouraged to use visuals/images to explain, integrate, give feedback, and reflect on their work. The content of the research workbook should not place too much emphasis on recording the raw data collected during the process, but focusing on the mental process of construction and improvement occurred during the creation of the work. The better Research Workbooks illustrated students' efforts in trying hard to reach a wide range of interests which are appropriate and relevant to their personal experiences. Most of the students also followed the good practice of citing the sources artworks and texts.

However, some students were still very reliant on texts in their Research Workbooks. This inevitably made the creative and learning process time-consuming. It is, therefore, strongly recommended that students present and record their learning process with more visuals than text, throughout the creative process – from searching for topics and references to the conceptualisation stage, the development of ideas to experimentation with media/tools/materials, finalisation, etc. Students should apply a full range of thinking or creative processes via visual means, such as thumbnails, sketches, drawings, found objects/images, photos and collages etc., as their resultant observations, explorations, discoveries, feedback, or afterthoughts.

Some students did their Research Workbooks in a narrative format, by simply recording all the things that happened chronologically through their study period. In fact, students only need to briefly present their learning stages, processes, and experiences during the creative process, such as research data collection, idea generation & development, technique or material trials, problems encountered and solutions, self-reflections, etc.

Most of the students' self-evaluations were superficial, focusing only on the steps, techniques and process levels. These often lack the theme content, background, situational understanding, and interpretation of the creation. In fact, students can develop their own unique opinions and insights through their personal experiences in the creation process. They can learn from these experiences, and even learn and grow from their mistakes as well as make self-reflections, criticisms and improvements.

The citation of images and texts in the research workbook are recorded more systematically. However some Research Workbooks were found to be filled with many pages of photocopies, or second-hand information downloaded from the internet, without acknowledgment of the sources. In these cases, plagiarism and violation of the examination regulations may have been committed, although sometimes unintentionally. Once this kind of malpractice is confirmed, candidates will be subject to severe penalties. Students can refer to the information leaflet HKDSE Examination-Information on School-based Assessment

(http://www.hkeaa.edu.hk/DocLibrary/Media/Leaflets/SBA_pamphlet_E_web.pdf) for guidance on how to properly acknowledge sources of information quoted in their works.

It is observed that a wide range of artistic genres, media or techniques were covered in their portfolios. The most popular media were painting, illustration, sculpture, graphic design and printmaking. Additionally, fashion design, digital drawing, animations, video and installation art were also frequently found. This reflects students' wide interests and abilities of artistic expression.

The themes of most students' work generally evolved around their own daily life and experiences. However, a few portfolios were using similar theme, references or style of artmaking in the creative process. This hindered students' creative thinking and artistic creation, and reduced their ability to feel art, appreciate art, as well as build a personal understanding of culture and art. In the creative process, inspiration and personal insights should be extended and developed through creative experience, rather than determining the theme and form of the entire set of works before creation. The Artworks in the portfolio should be developed bit by bit based on the student's learning experience.

Students who create three-dimensional forms should pay more attention to the information collection, exploration of materials, tools, and techniques in the early stage of creation, using appropriate visual language, such as texture, colour, proportion, and contrast, in three-dimensional composition which can effectively communicate with the viewer. Some of the 3D artworks were presented in a very raw or rough state. Through experimentation and research in the creative process, students become more familiar with using appropriate materials, tools, and production techniques to express their ideas effectively. Some photographic images taken for 3D artworks were lacking in detail. This inevitably hindered the understanding of the 3D forms. Hence, having complementary images from multiple angles, and the enlargement of special features or enlarged details of the artwork are strongly recommended.

The presentation of digital media artwork, especially animation or videos, has shown continuous improvements as the presentation of storyboards has generally been done with more care and detail. Some storyboard templates or information frames convey all relevant technical information or details needed for production.

It is recommended that school teachers and students can refer to the relevant information in the Visual Arts Curriculum and Assessment Guide (Secondary 4-6) for recommendations of such operations at; https://www.edb.gov.hk/attachment/en/curriculum-development/kla/arts-edu/curriculum-docs/VA_CAGuide_e_2015.pdf and HKDSE Visual Arts School-based Assessment Teachers' Handbook at; http://www.hkeaa.edu.hk/en/sba/sba_hkdse_elective/dse_subject.html?25&2
